

Announcements/Reminders

Resilient! It's so amazing to see how our students are able to adapt to this unusual time. I am in awe of what they can do! I absolutely LOVE seeing their cheerful faces via Zoom and Google Meet everyday. Thank you for welcoming me into your homes.

Virtual Specials: Visit the announcements page on our class website to receive information on how our students can connect with their Specials' teachers (library, science lab, pe, music, art).

Workload: I will continue to adjust the workload as we test this new way of learning. Please keep me informed of how it's going at home. Teachers have been given more specific guidelines for expectations and you'll see that adjustment next week.

Office Hours: I will continue to teach the live math chat at 9am M-F and I will provide pre-recorded lessons for language arts. With the uncertainty of my nanny coming to work next week, I will most likely be caring for Nicky during the day. Therefore, I will be available for 1:1 chats on an as-need basis. Please text (424) 262-0936 if your child needs 1:1 assistance. Thank you for your understanding.

Thank You: I appreciate ALL that you are doing to ensure that your child continues to learn. I can relate to the struggle of continuing to work and also being at home with my child and everything that encompasses taking care of them.

A sincere THANK YOU for your efforts this past week.

Curriculum Focus

Reading and Writing

Students will continue to research their specific mission. We will begin to transition from note-taking to drafting our research reports.

Mathematics

Module 5 are covering FRACTIONS! Students are adding and subtracting fractions using a number line.

Science and Social Studies

At this time, we will take a break from Science and Social Studies in an effort to adjust our workload. Please see Mrs. Liu's website for ideas on how to bring science into your home. In addition, I will occasionally share ideas for optional Makerspace projects. If our distance learning timeline has extended, I will find optional ways to cover Social Studies content while at home.

Mark Your Calendar

April 6th-13th - Spring Break, no school

Schedule some zoom chats with friends...go on a nature walk...take a bike ride...enjoy a book!
